FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

28th January 2010

NATIONAL POWER CORPORATION AND CLENERGEN CORPORATION (CRGE: OB) SIGN MOA TO DEVELOP RENEWABLE ELECTRICITY IN THE PHILIPPINES

National Power Corporation (NPC) and Clenergen Corporation (CRGE) reached agreement to collaborate in producing green electricity using biomass electricity systems for NPC's Small Power Utilities Group (SPUG) covering 0.5 to 2 MW power plants.

In a joint announcement, NPC President Froilan A. Tampinco and Clenergen Corporation CEO Mark LM Quinn agreed to pursue feasibility studies for the NPC's nominated areas --- Kabugao, Kalinga, Lubuagan, Apayao, Concepcion, Romblon, Corcuera, Romblon and Banton. NPC believes these areas have the best potential for developing competitive renewable sources of electricity.

Clenergen Corporation, a publicly held US company (CRGE) have developed a programme to produce high-density, short-rotation biomass crops on a commercial scale to provide sustainable supplies of clean energy to regional, independent clients and national grids.

National Power Corporation, is the Philippine government's mandated state agency to develop off-grid small island power systems using non-conventional electricity systems.

Mark Quinn, CEO of Clenergen Corporation commented "Clenergen Corporation will dedicate itself to install Distributed Environmental Power Systems or DEPS in the Philippines. The biomass power plants will range in size from 0.5 to 8 MW and will be located in areas suitable to cultivate dedicated biomass feedstocks." "We see the Philippines as an excellent platform to showcase and demonstrate the biomass and gasification technologies to assure renewable electricity for the Asia Pacific basin.

PRESS RELEASE

Froilan A. Tampinco President of NPC said “We are strongly encouraged by the Agreement with Clenergen and we look forward to the MOA’s immediate implementation as we promote and encourage the use of renewable energy that abounds in our countryside,”. Mr Tampinco sees the Clenergen partnership as a clear indication of global support for NPC’s call for strong partnership in the field of alternative energy for the Philippines’ small island electrification program.
